

EcoKarma – Participation & Reward System

Visual Flow Overview

EcoKarma follows a structured flow designed to ensure fairness, accountability, and long-term sustainability. Participation begins with user registration and progresses through validation, reputation scoring, and capped reward distribution.

- User registers and logs in
- Profile and location are set
- User selects or declares an activity
- Real-world action is performed
- Proof is captured (GPS, time, media)
- Automated validation checks are applied
- Community or event cross-verification (where applicable)
- Reputation and trust score updated
- Reward eligibility confirmed
- Time-based rewards issued on a capped cycle
- Ongoing participation encouraged

Participation & Reward Policy (Legal-Safe Summary)

Purpose of the Platform

EcoKarma is a participation-based platform designed to recognise environmental and community-focused actions. Rewards acknowledge participation and do not constitute income, wages, or guaranteed financial returns.

Eligibility & Registration

Participation requires account registration. Each individual may maintain only one account. EcoKarma may suspend or terminate accounts attempting to bypass participation limits.

Submission of Activities

Users may submit activities supported by GPS data, timestamps, and media proof. False or misleading submissions are prohibited.

Validation & Review

EcoKarma applies automated and, where necessary, manual or community review processes. Approval of submissions is not guaranteed.

Reward Issuance

Rewards are issued gradually and are subject to daily and lifetime caps. EcoKarma may delay, adjust, or revoke rewards to maintain system integrity.

No Financial Guarantee

EcoKarma tokens represent participation within the platform. Any displayed currency values are indicative only and not guaranteed.

Anti-Abuse & Enforcement

EcoKarma monitors for abuse including false submissions, location spoofing, and manipulation. Violations may result in suspension or termination.

Platform Changes

EcoKarma reserves the right to modify platform features, validation methods, and reward structures.

Limitation of Liability

EcoKarma is not liable for perceived losses, missed rewards, or value changes. Participation is voluntary.

EcoKarma is designed to reward positive participation responsibly by prioritising fairness, transparency, and long-term sustainability over speed or speculation.
